Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 10.—(Special)—One of the interesting questions which arises regarding the anti-free pass crusade which Governor Russell, Senator Butler and the new Railway Commissioners are inaugurating, is whether the Commission has any authority as concerns passes issued on lines which run into other States. A Federal judge says that in such cases there is no jurisdiction, the interstate commerce law coming in.

The railway people think the Railway Commission began to see Saturday afternoon that its position was ticklish. The chairman says that in the test which is in progress the power of the commission act is being strained to the utmost.

The Railway Commission office is yet being constantly guarded day and night by Dr. Mott'e son James. It was the Governor who ordered the keeper of the Capitol to put on the guard. The keeper frankly admits that he can't see any reason for putting on a guard, but that he simply obeyed orders.

Col. E. A. Osborne, of Charlotte, the last commander of the Fourth Regiment, North Carolina State Troops, has written to Adjutant-General Stephen D. Ayling, of New Hampshire, for the captured flag of that regiment, which Mrs. Persis F. Chase has placed in General Ayling's hands. Colonel Osborne says he desires the flag as an interesting relic for the pleasure and satisfaction of the survivors of that once splendid regiment. General Ayling says that Mrs. Chase has left the matter of the return entirely in his hands and that he will be happy to return the flag upon an authorization by the Adjutant-General of North Oarolina that Osborne may receive it. This authorization was given to-day. The flag was captured at Chancellors-ville and not at Sharpsburg.

It is easy for a woman to be well and strong in a womanly way. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts directly upon the important and delicate organs that constitute womanhood. It makes them strong and healthy. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and gives the tortured nerves rest and tone. It prepares for wifelaood and motherhood. Taken during the expectant period it banishes the usual discomforts, makes the coming of baby casy and painless, and insures the health of the newcomer. Thousands of women have said so. NORFOLKIANS GONE TO THE KLONDIKE.

As has been already stated in The Virginian. John Miller, a tailor, whose shop was on Bank street, left last Sunday night for the Klondike gold fields. He was accompended by a young man named Braithwaite, from Princess Anne county. These two gentlemen went direct to New York, where they awaited the coming of Mr. William D. Butt, a popular young man of this city, who left here on Wednesday evening last to Join Messrs, Miller and Braithwaite. He arrived at the metropolis safely on Thursday, where he was met by his friends. Later in the day the two set sail for Seattle, Wash. Their voyage will extend along the Atlantic coast until the Gulf stream is reached, when their course will be turned in a Westerly direction. They will go round Cape Horn and go up the Pacific coast to Seattle. Here they will get their supplies and continue their Journey to their destination. When these gentlemen left here, besides other necessities which they carried, was an overcoat for each which were wonderful specimens of tailor's art. These coals were made by Mr. Miller of extra heavy cloth and were lined from top to bottom with sheep skin the wool having been left on the hide. The coats weighed thirty pounds each, and some idea can be formed from this of value of the garmapits. Before making the coats Mr. Miller of extra heavy cloth and were yellow the wearing apparel necessary to brave making the severe climate of the covered regions, and was informed that the style of coat mentioned was the one required.

(Special Cor. of The Virginian.)

Washington, D. C., Jan 10, 1893. House Elections Committee No. 3 sat from 11 o'clock this morning until 5:30 o'clock this evening, hearing oral argu-ment in the case of Wise vs. Young. The committee room was crowded all flay. Barong these constructions day. Among those present besides cay. Among those present besides interested parties and counsel, were Congressmen Yost, Epes and Swanson, and Morgan Treat, ex-Congressman Libby, Thorp and Brown, contestants against Epes and Swanson, A. L. Lynch and S. P. Kearney. John S. Wise, counsel for contestant, spoke two hours, ettacking the Virginia election law and using his most effective ritingly against the section. using his most effective ridicule against

This sally seemed to tickle the committee, but Judge Brooke maintained a dignified slience and proceeded with his argument.

Colonel Brady, at its close, to break the force of Judge Brooke's showing of defection from Wise, stated that Bowden's following was not numerous, and his defection did not operate to defeat Wise; that he was counted out by gross frauds. Counsel Wise closed with a great

PICTURES FROM A PASTOR-IUM."

All lovers of good literature will be delighted with a dainty little volume of poems just issued by the J. B. Lippincott company, of Philadelphia. It is entitled "Pictures from a Pastorium," and its author, the Rev. Dr M. B. Whanon, is widely known as an able und eloquent divine and a brilliant writer.

B. Whatton, is widely known as an able and ecoquent divine and a brilliant writer.

The doctor was at one time the editor of the Christian Index, of this city, where he has a legion of warm friends and admirers. He has found time during his busy career to stray into literary fields, and among the interesting and entertaining productions of his pen are those deservedly popular books, "European Notes; or What I Saw in the Old World," "Famous Women of the New Testament," He is a writer of genius and culture, with a lively imagination and a graceful style. An illustration of his originality may be found in his use of the word "Pastorium," which is of his own ceinage and means a parsonage. The word was so favorably received that Funk & Wagnalis have given it a place in their new and splendid dictionary.

The poems in this book were written for recitation, as a rule, but some of them have been adopted as hymns, and the necesspapers have given them a wide ofreulation. The dootor's versative muse touches many subjects and adount them all. His theme embraces librate of a religious terms. shows them all. His theme embraces those of a religious, sentimental and patriotic character, and there are occusional verses in a lighter vein, exhibiting the exuberant wit and fancy of the author. One of the best literary critics in the country halls him as the poet laurente of the South, and it is safe to say that the readers of this collection of his poems will readily admit that he has won his way into the front rank of Southern peoets. Dr. Wharton's poetry is remarkable for its delightful rhythm. His verses have that indescribable lift which is a controlling factor in all poems intended to trolling factor in all poems intended to be sung or recited.

"Poems From a Pastorium" should find an honored place in thousands of libraries. It is a book for the old and the young, the grave and the ray. A feature of the grave and the gay. A feature of the work which wild be highly prized by many is an exceptionally fine portrait of the author, who now resides at Norfolk, Va., where he is the popular and useful pastor of the Freemason Street Baptist Church.—Atlanta Journal

It is one of the absolute impossibilities of the world to cure the roots by lopping off the leaves. Those who treat Catarrh with sprays, washes and inhaling mixtures, should know that these remedies reach only the surface, and can never cure them. Catarrh invariably leads to Consumption, and to delay the proper treatment is to invite this dreaded disease.

Catarrh

comes from diseased blood. Sprays and washes won't cure it, because they do not reach the roots of the trouble. There is no use experimenting with the abominable disease called Catarrh. There is no use losing time.
